Message from Allan Cadzow - Director for Children and Young People, Suffolk County Council

To all school and setting leaders – Tuesday, 19 July 2022

Message from Allan Cadzow

Corporate Director for Children & Young People

As I write this last Headlines message of the 2021-22 academic year, on the first ever red weather warning day in this country, I am struck again by the amazing work you, education leaders across Suffolk have done in your schools and settings this year. As we started the year in September 2021, I am sure we all hoped for a year which was a more 'typical one' than the previous academic year. The year has presented some challenges and alongside that, I am continually impressed with the way you have responded and turned those challenges into opportunities for Suffolk children and young people, and staff in your schools and settings.

I hope the academic year ends for you all with celebration of all that has been achieved, and with a sense of pride of being part of the community of education leaders in Suffolk. Take some time to have a break over the summer, you certainly deserve one. With my heartfelt thanks for all that you have done and continue to do for Suffolk children and young people – it really is appreciated.

See you in September!
